Phelps' Ohio Combination Patent Bee Hive mm at the New York State Fair, September 1852, also at the Crystal Palace and at numerous County Fairs. It is acknowledged by all practical bee keepers, stands unrivalled, and ahead of all other Hives yet knewn, to be what its name indicates, a combination of all what its name indicates, a combination of all those principles necessary to the successful management of Bess. Many persons have been obliged to abandon the business on account of the ranges of the Bee Moth and frequent losses by startation. This Hive by simple arrangement grands most effectually against those two great evils. It is also equally well adapted to large or small awarms, and likewise for a swarming, non-awarming, or dithey learn its excellencies. We would say to those who never kept bees, that with this Hire they may be managed with perfect impanity, as all parts of the case may be opened and the operation of the bees witnessed without com-ing in contact with them. The advantages is possesses over others are as follows:

1st. Its perfect adaptation (in regard to size) to the artnal wants of a colony of bees at all seasons, let it be a large or small one.

2st. The facilities is affects for obtaining surplus honey or removing any portions of the

24. The facilities it affects for obtaining surplus bones or removing any portions of the old combs, are superior to any other, as the bees may be made to leave either bear when desired before ramoving it from the hive without disturbing or injuring them in the least.

34. It affects the best opportunity for observing the operations of the bees, the amount of honey in store and the strength of the colony at all times without expassive to the bees.

4th. The construction of the live with the slighting board is such that will always any

Stewart was in the second that the lenging party. long to the extension of reading had scarcely begun to exist. Burke persuaded Dodsley to publish 'The Library,' and the Bishop of Norwich to ordain its and the Bishop of Norwich to ordain its author, without a degree. His lot in life was fixed. Thurlow invited him to dinner, and telling him he was 'as like Parson Adams as twelve to a dozen.'

He word to fire was given, and Stewart fell word to fire was given, and Stewart fell word to fire was given, and Stewart fell word to fire was given when the word to Parson Adams as twelve to a dozen, gave him two small livings.
